

I do not want NJ to adapt the exception in question. I may have called a company for information or to complain; that should not give them the right to call me. It seems I get plenty of calls from charities and businesses as it is. I do not need those annoying solicitors calling also. Keep our laws on this pure. AW